

XM Radio and other "premium" information systems (Satalite TV) should not be limited to what they may or may not broadcast. I willingly pay a premium each month to listen to what "free" services fail to provide. I am able to receive 3 standard radio stations with a WIDE variaty of comercials. Minimal wheather reports (most of which I can glean from looking outdoors), and as far as music is concerened, great variaty if you love the same five songs. I love my XMradio and the service it provides me. I would gladly pay 3 times as much as I do, in order to recieve what I do. Please do not limit their right to brodcast, or my right to listen to what I enjoy.

James Bruyn